

“ Mediacor is unique in the e-learning, talent-management or general Learning Management Systems (LMS) industries in that it has the ability to adapt to change dynamically and quickly. Most of the e-learning providers relied on stale, traditional, off-the-shelf courses, which could not be customized for specific client needs. Mediacor, using its unique learning platform, has developed the fastest online course creation process, which enables trainers and regulating bodies to modify their multi-media learning courses in accordance with changing demands. Mediacor offers the best economically competitive learning solution available. ”

Mediacor Solutions Background

Since 2002, MCS has collaborated with acclaimed academics and business leaders in education, marketing, business strategy, international legislation, neuroscience, online learning and talent management solutions with a single goal in mind – to design, build and deliver the simplest solution that could possibly be used to educate, develop, mould and measure personnel to perform optimally and produce better results while enabling organizational compliance to fulfill standard management criteria.

Mediacor has implemented a lean, portable, Software as a Service (SaaS) and Web2.0 compliant, dynamically malleable and agile platform that immediately aligns and adapts to your specific business needs. Mediacor is able to do what all the other leading international e-learning solutions offer but cleaner and simpler with web and mobile implementation that is platform agnostic. Thus, Mediacor’s platform translates into immediate deployment of learning solutions, resulting in a tangible reduction in costs.

Mediacor also have a range of customizable e-learning courses for schools, corporates and government created by industry experts and leading international university faculty.
